

art commissions

by anne-marie broughton

I specialise in fantasy illustrations, including mermaid, elf and fairy art, using both traditional media (graphite and colour pencil drawings) and digital media (digital drawings using Wacom drawing tablet and Adobe Photoshop).

If you would like to request a portrait, I require at least one high quality photograph of the subject. This photograph needs to be in focus and have a reasonable level of detail. You can email me a digital copy of the photo(s) along with your instructions (eg. whether you require a graphite, colour pencil, or digital drawing, what size artwork you require, and your full name, postal address and contact phone number).

At initial acceptance of the commission, I require a 50% deposit payment. I accept cash, Paypal, cheque or money order payments. Work will begin on your commission when your 50% payment is received. (Acceptance of your commission will depend on my current workload and availability.)

Regular progress shots of the artwork can be emailed to you if required. Please discuss any deadlines for receipt of artwork at the time of booking your commission.

The final artwork can be personally delivered directly to you if you live in the Adelaide area, or alternatively I can send it via Registered Australia Post.

Upon completion of the final artwork the remaining 50% payment will be required.

Final artworks are delivered un-framed. Picture framing is a very personal choice so I leave this up to you.

Digital artworks can be delivered in digital format if required. Please discuss your file format requirements at the time of booking your commission.

Please note that my digital artworks are not vector based and are created in Adobe Photoshop.

PLEASE NOTE: I reserve the right to display, advertise, sell prints or create other marketing merchandise from all commission work unless agreed otherwise.

Prints are sent to a specialist wide-format printing house and turn-around time for these prints is approximately 1 day. A copy of the original digital file is also supplied to you on CD (included in above price).
